

Top Six San Diego Attractions

San Diego is touted as a tremendous vacation destination. As a local, I can tell you it is. From family events to a vibrant nightlife, there is something for everyone and you'll never get bored.

Viva la Mexico! San Diego sits on the border with Tijuana just to the south. TJ, as it is known, is a lot of fun. Unfortunately, there has been a lot of drug crime lately, so make sure to check with locals on that status before heading down.

Looking for something very different? How about the strangest amusement park you've probably ever seen. Yep, I am talking about Legoland in Carlsbad. As the name suggests, the park is primarily made out of Legos. A kid's delight.

Like to play the slots? A good card game sound fun? Well, gambling is illegal in San Diego County. However, Indian reservations have no such restrictions and they surround San Diego. Sycuan's is a popular one.

Love a good slab of meat? Prime rib specifically? Try Bully's in Del Mar. This dingy bar/restaurant has been a famous gathering place for years for locals looking for prime rib that is simply mouth watering.

Given its location, you probably will not find it surprising San Diego is known for its Mexican food. Everyone has their favorite place, but some of the best are in Eden Gardens within Solana Beach. Authentic and inexpensive. Give it a try.

Looking to do a bit of dancing. From the Tango to line dancing to whatever is hot, one needs look no farther than downtown San Diego. Head over to E street and prepare to burn off dinner with some seriously fun gyrating.

Looking for something really different? How about bull fighting? They don't allow it in San Diego, but you can hop across the border and catch it in Tijuana. The bull ring is located on the coast to the west of the city.

When it comes to having fun in San Diego, the list of things you can do is practically endless. It is pretty hard to have a bad time, so just get out there and go. We are all friendly, so don't hesitate to ask for some help or advice if you need it.

About the Author

Thomas Burtonelli writes about travel for NomadJournals.com - makers of rugged travel and outdoor journals that make great unique promotional products for your business. \n\nThomas Burtonelli writes about travel for NomadJournals.com - makers of rugged travel and outdoor journals that make great unique corporate gifts. \n\nThomas Burtonelli writes about travel for NomadJournals.com - makers of rugged travel and outdoor journals that make great unique unique corporate giftss. \n\nThomas Burtonelli writes about travel for NomadJournals.com - makers of rugged travel and outdoor journals that make great unique promotional gifts for your business. \n\nThomas Burtonelli writes about travel for NomadJournals.com - makers of rugged travel and outdoor journals that make great unique promotional items for your business. \n\nThomas Burtonelli writes about travel for NomadJournals.com - makers of rugged travel and outdoor journals that make great unique customized promotional products for all occassions. \n\nThomas Burtonelli writes about travel for NomadJournals.com - makers of rugged travel and outdoor journals that make great unique customized promotional items for your business. \n\nThomas Burtonelli writes about travel for NomadJournals.com - makers of rugged travel and outdoor journals that make great unique customized promotional gifts for your business. \n\nThomas Burtonelli writes about travel for NomadJournals.com - makers of rugged travel and outdoor journals that make great unique unique promotional products for your business. \n\nThomas Burtonelli writes about travel for NomadJournals.com - makers of rugged travel and outdoor journals that make great unique unique promotional items for your business. \n\nThomas Burtonelli writes about travel for NomadJournals.com - makers of rugged travel and outdoor journals that make great unique unique promotional gifts for your business. \n\nThomas Burtonelli writes about travel for NomadJournals.com - makers of rugged travel and outdoor journals that make great unique private label merchandise for your business. \n\nThomas Burtonelli writes about travel for NomadJournals.com - makers of rugged travel and outdoor journals that make great unique private label products for your business. \n\nThomas Burtonelli writes about travel for NomadJournals.com - makers of rugged travel and outdoor journals that make great unique private label items for your business. \n\nThomas Burtonelli writes about travel for NomadJournals.com - makers of rugged travel and outdoor journals that make great unique private label gifts for your business. \n\nThomas Burtonelli writes about travel for NomadJournals.com - makers of a rugged writing journal that has no peer. \n\nThomas Burtonelli writes about travel for NomadJournals.com - makers of a rugged blank journal that has no peer. \n\nThomas Burtonelli writes about travel for NomadJournals.com - makers of rugged travel journals for any trip. Keep the memories! \n\nThomas Burtonelli writes about travel for NomadJournals.com - makers of a rugged travel journal that has no peer. \n\n