

Why Ladies Golf Clubs are Not So Easy to Find

If you are a female golfer looking for ladies golf clubs that actually fit you will know that this is not an easy task even though many more women now play golf.

Because all of us, both males and females, are human and therefore different than each other, there will always be a problem when trying to find suitable golf equipment.

Golf Clubs are a Male Dominated Market

Unfortunately golf clubs are not an exception and the problem becomes even more acute when trying to find suitable clubs for a lady golfer. Mainly this is due to a much smaller market for ladies golf clubs and the fact that development and manufacturing costs of any high specification item continue to be high.

In some cases a woman golfer may be lucky and find that a normal golf club will fit and work perfectly well, but this will be an exception rather than the rule. Usually it is extremely difficult for a women golfer to find suitable clubs, especially when they are trying to put a whole golf set together.

Physical Differences are a Major Factor

The physical differences between men and women means that both sexes have different requirements when it comes to selecting that perfect golf club. A club that is too stiff or too flexible will not be suitable for the lady golfer and a standard gold club is unlikely to match a female golfers swing in most cases.

If the golf clubs are lighter then they are more likely to be suitable for ladies as the increased swing speed will longer shots, but the lady may find that there is a slight loss of the control that would be available from a heavier club. The actual length of the club is also important as women are normally shorter than men and only a shorter ladies club will bring the comfort required for a better fit.

Try and road test the golf clubs you like to make sure that the fit is what you need and that they feel comfortable when playing. Do as much research and testing as you need to make sure you really have made the best selection.

What About Custom Clubs or Clubs Designed for Women

Fortunately there are quite a few manufacturers who produce purpose built golf clubs for women such as woods, wedges and irons that are design specifically to aid the female golfer. In general these do tend to be lighter clubs so ladies can more easily improve their golf game and make quicker progress.

As female golfers improve and progress then the demand for that perfect set of golf clubs will become greater and greater. Then the only solution may be to buy an set of custom made golf clubs to that perfect fit across the range.

Custom made ladies golf clubs are expensive and you should be prepared for this. But getting the best fit will ensure that the improvement in your golf game will be much more likely and probably worth the cost of this investment.

Today it is actually now easier to find golf clubs that a designed just for the woman golfer, however it really should be easier than it is for female golf players to find clubs that will help her improve and that match her style.

Keep Looking Until You Find What You Want

Although finding the best ladies golf clubs is probably the hardest task that a female golfer will face it is recommended that they make it a high priority as they will only progress in this game if they have the right equipment and it is equipment that is easy to use.
