

Florida Golf- Golf Second To None

Florida golf is loaded with quality municipal courses like Crandon Park, Daytona Beach Golf Club and The Golf Club at Cypress Head where you can get in a quality round for well under a C-note. It is a destination second to none, and Florida offers discounted tee times in Orlando, Tampa, Miami, Jacksonville and other popular golf vacation areas. This state provides superbly priced developments of apartments, ideally located with beaches, amenities and golf courses on the doorstep. This state contains well-priced developments of apartments, with a great selection of 2 bed properties, some of which are due for imminent completion.

Golf Digest recently named Shark's Tooth the second best new private course in America and it's a top new private course for Florida. Golf is also a favorite sport among the residents of Florida and golf schools are also at hand where you can pick up some important tips about the game. Golf erupted on the recreation scene in Florida sometime during the early 20th century and the Sunshine State became the most preferred golf vacation destination for enthusiasts across the country. Golf is spread out over all major regions with Orlando coming up the tops.

Florida golf vacations are some of my favorite trips to make. Florida is as hot as it is beautiful and Florida's Gulf Coast might be overlooked by vacationers preferring Disney theme parks and Palm Beach resorts, but Florida golf courses have been designed by some of the top names in golf including Pete Dye, Tom Fazio, Mark McCumber and more. Florida golf features a selection of well-priced 2 bed apartments, some having rooftop solariums and others having private gardens. Also as a Florida golf standout, Innisbrook is home to the famous Copperhead golf course, one that many PGA Tour pros call their favorite when they make their annual swing through the Sunshine State. One of the drawbacks of golfing in Florida, however, is the abundant housing ubiquitous to almost every golf course. From its year-round, golf-friendly temperatures, to its superior courses, it is no wonder Florida is home to more professional golfers than any other state. Play where the pros play and come experience why Florida golf is a gimme for you and the whole family. As someone who loves to golf (and comes from a large family of chippers), I have found that Florida offers some of the best courses in America. Florida golf is a destination second to none.
